Wedding Bells Ring—Even in Viet Nam

BOYLES: "So I decided to get married."

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

BIEN HOA, Viet Nam — (NEA) — As Pfc. Joe Boyles explained it, he was just sitting around the tent cracking his knuckles, blowing his nose, shining his boots and trying to keep from yawning.

One day a man is fighting Viet Cong and the next day he is fighting boredom.

And, as any GI who has served 12 months in this jittery jungle can testify, the time is at least as hard to kill as the enemy.

"So," Boyles recently shrugged, "I decided to get married."

"To a girl?" he was ineptly asked.

"What else?"

"Er, that is, to an American girl?"

"Of course, my girl back in Philadelphia."

"What's her name?"

"Patricia Zidenski."

"How do you spell it?"

"Z-I-D... cripes, I don't know."

"You can't spell your own wife's name?"

"Look, I can hardly even pronounce it."

Despite that obstacle, Boyles had no trouble in winning his Philly filly. He wrote a letter and popped the question in print.

She immediately replied yes, but wondered how. Boyles talked the situation over with his unit chaplain, but found out that a leave was, of course, out. This is, after all, war and all that.

"Then," he said, "we decided to do it by proxy."

"You mean with a stand-in?"

"Yes, it's perfectly legal."

"Of course, but is it any fun?"

"Uh, not so's you'd notice."

The paper work was set in motion. Power of attorney... statements... legal acknowledgments of Joseph, 22, and Patricia, 21.

Mating by mail, Boyles christened it. Nuptials on an eight-cent stamp.

"Finally I got the formal vows," he said. "It was the usual line... 'Do you take this woman to be your lawful wedded, et cetera.' I signed everything and from then on it was up to my girl."

"She kept me informed as much as possible but I was always a week or so behind the news. I had no idea of when it was to take place. I didn't even know the name of my stand-in."

"The wife said the ceremony would be simple. They'd go through the whole bit except for substituting my name for the stand-in. Then one day I got a letter that said we were finally hitched."

"What were you doing during the wedding?" somebody asked.

"I was on K.P."

"No?"

"Yeah, scrubbing pots and pans."

"Did you ever celebrate?"

"I had a few beers one night."

"And what about your wife?"

"She got pretty excited about it all."

"How?"

"After she said 'I do,' she fainted dead away."

Pfc. Joe Boyles, a 173rd Airborne paratrooper, will not see his bride for five more months, but he's already making plans for the reunion.

"I got her a perfect wedding present," he said.

"What's that?"

"Baby doll pajamas."

"What?"

"For our honeymoon next May."

"Oh!"

"Yeah, man. That's one thing we aren't doing by proxy."

PIQUE: Why not a charm school for men?

PARIS—(N E A)—Ex-model Mag Pique thinks the modern pace of living has become so fast that men are leaving the amenities at the starting gate.

"Too many young men today are too brusque, too cavalier in their attitude towards women," Miss Pique says.

In order to put males back on the right track, Miss Pique has opened a charm school for men.

She proposes to turn out near-perfect gentlemen in a three-month course for $120. She guarantees her students they will shine confidently in every kind of social situation.

"One of my first pupils," Mag says, "happens to be a 35-year-old self-made man who heads his own firm."

"He came to me and explained that while he was completely at ease in everything to do with his business, he realized that he did not know how to dress, how to walk, how to eat."

"In short, he was a case of complete lack of poise."

At the school, Miss Pique and her staff teach the students how to speak, walk and dress well, how and when to order and eat, how to pour champagne and how to make and break dates.

They even learn the proper way to kiss a woman's hand and, equally as important, which woman's hand to kiss.

Classes take no more than four or five men at a time, Miss Pique said, "because men are much more shy than women. They are inclined to be paralyzed in larger groups."

"On the other hand," she said, "men learn faster and are more disciplined than women."

Presently, Miss Pique's school has 30 students enrolled. Half of them are male models, the rest businessmen from 20 to 35.

By the time a student receives his diploma, he will have learned the way to invite a woman to lunch, to the cinema or to a concert without faltering.

He will know not to cross his legs at a table, crumble his bread, quaff his wine or let his companion pay the bill.

The who-pays-the-bill point is one of more than average interest to Miss Pique's students. Aware of the sometimes American custom of "going Dutch," her students often ask: "When can we let a woman pay?"

Miss Pique's answer also serves as a lesson in feminine coyness: "It all depends on the circumstances."

President to Continue Peace Moves

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson was expected today to continue his Vietnamese peace offensive, including the pause in bombing the north, long enough to give North Vietnam what officials here call ample time to decide for or against entering peace negotiations.

Public denunciations of the peace drive as "decisive and hypocritical" which came from Hanoi Monday are so far not regarded by the U.S. policy makers as decisive. The United States is still awaiting some more official kind of response which presumably would come from the Hanoi government either in a public declaration or through diplomatic channels.

The suspension of air strikes against North Viet Nam is now in its twelfth day, having begun with the Christmas truce. So far as can be determined no date has been set for resumption.

The whole situation, including the progress of the U.S. peace offensive, is said to be under a daily review by President Johnson and his top advisers with developments measured against the general guideline of allowing ample time for the leaders in North Viet Nam to decide how they want to handle the situation.

Policy makers here are said to be convinced that there is a division in Hanoi between those who would like to find some way to bring the fighting to a close and in effect transfer the struggle for control of South Viet Nam to the conference table and those who favor continuing the war at any cost.

It is also widely believed in Washington that Communist China is putting heavy pressure on the Hanoi government to continue the fight while Soviet policy, so far as it can be brought to bear in Hanoi, is believed to favor a negotiated solution.

HELEN HELP US!

— by Helen Bottel —

Who's The Boss

Dear Helen: I work for a married man who doesn't work at it very hard. He has never tried anything, but I somehow get the feeling that he's waiting for the right moment. I think I need some advice.

You see, everytime my husband and I plan an evening out, this man asks me to stay a n d work overtime. So I have to call my husband at the last minute and cancel our plans. I get paid extra for overtime, and we can use the money, but it seems like my boss just senses when it will make my husband furious (I don't tell him.)

The last time it happened, my husband said "That's it. We won't go out for dinner any more!" He wants me home in the evening and he doesn't trust this man who is quite a one with the ladies.

I love my husband but I love my job, too. It's fascinating to be the secretary to a man who is in all the society columns; he treats me wonderfully, and when he takes me to dinner on my overtime nights he's a perfect gentleman. But sometimes I get a funny feeling there's a tug of war, and I'm the — Rope.

Dear Rope: I get that funny feeling too. Cutout the overtime before you're roped into exchanging one good, long-term husband for a scalp-hunting married playboy. — H.

Dear Helen: They SAY an ex-con or one who has been in a correctional institution (that's the polite word for it) has a chance, on the outside. Chance for what? To get into more trouble, again, that's what!

I got paroled, and they found me a job at a cafe. I learned the manager was dipping into the till, and when he found out I knew, he said, "So what, you are the ex-con." I left before I got a stealing rap.

Then another big-hearted hotel man wanted to "rehabilitate" me, so he put me on as a waiter. What HE expected, I won't say. Back to pounding the streets.

The only people who hire ex-cons are ones who think they can "use" us some way, to hide their own dirty work.

I apply at decent companies and they ar every polite, but they either say right b u t that "security" won't let them hire former prisoners, or else they never call me back.

You wonder why prisons have so many repeats. There's your reason! — Ex Con On The Way Back

Dear Ex: It isn't easy, but you CAN live down a prison term' just as you can make a come-back from any other failure in life: If you want to! An ex-con who is determined to go straight will manage it, though he may hit more than a couple of bad tries.

A lot of people in responsible positions have "done time," and if you don't think so, ask your parole officer. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen Help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star.

But every film actor experiences idle periods between pictures. At such times, Malden admitted, "I'm bored stiff."

He is a graduate of the Actor's Studio and hence believes in continuous study of his craft. But such is not possible in Hollywood, he declared, even though acting workshops have been attempted from time to time.

"Everything is too commercial here," said Malden. "Actors don't join classes just to polish up their skills. They join with the idea that 'maybe if I do some scenes with Malden, he will recommend me for his next picture.'"

"In college communities it's different. Students are in classes for what they can learn."

So he went back to college. As Malden Sekulovich of Gary, Ind., he didn't get very far at Arkansas State Teachers College. He chucked an athletic scholarship for a career in the theater. His return to the campus life was occasioned by an invitation from an old friend who teaches dramatics at Eastern New Mexico University.

Word got around the academic community that Malden was available. He also accepted invitations from Kansas State Teachers and Indiana University. Now he has eight future dates, including Denver, San Jose State, Northwestern and Midland, Neb.

"I accept the dates with the proviso that I can leave if a movie job should come up," the actor explained. "For that reason I don't want to be paid."

"After I was at Kansas, the university sent me a check for a thousand dollars. I sent it back with the suggestion that they might convert it into a Karl Malden scholarship fund, if they wanted to. That was done, and now worthy dramatic students are given a hundred dollars a semester."

Malden's plan is to visit each campus for a three-week period. He lives and eats among the students and reports that after the first few days he is accepted as part of the local scene.

"I specify that I want to work with advanced acting classes, no more than 20 to 25 in each session," he said. "Most of the time we do scenes and improvise. The instructor can remain in the class if he wants. But he has to get up and make a fool of himself, just as we do."

Malden, who has a daughter at the University of Oregon, said his collegiate experiences send him back to Hollywood refreshed. How does his wife feel about these absences?

"She approves," he grinned. "She knows what a miserable person I can be when I'm not working."

Jim Jacoby and Dr. John Fisher of Dallas just missed making this year's American team. They were so close that if Jim, sitting East, had held the king of spades on board 13 of the last round, they would have made the team. The Jacobys discuss this key hand today.

Oswald: "It certainly was tough to miss the team due to the location of one key card. How about describing the play at your table?"

Jim: "Sam Stayman who was South, won the first heart in his hand. He led a club to dummy's king and led out the king of diamonds. Then he came back to his hand with a second heart and lost the club finesse. I led a club right back, whereupon Sam ran off the rest of dummy's clubs and discarded two spades. Then he overtook the king of hearts with his ace and cashed the ace and queen of diamonds. This left him with the tens of spades and diamonds. I was down to the jack of diamonds and six of spades while John was holding the king and jack. Since I had shown out on the second heart and John on the third diamond, Sam had a perfect count of the hand and knew that the location of the king of spades was exactly an even-money proposition.

"He led his ten of spades and John Fisher played the jack. This didn't help Sam at all. John would almost surely play the jack irrespective of whether his other card was the six or the king. Sam studied for five minutes and finally called for the queen from dummy."

"Oswald: 'All credit to Sam but it certainly was tough luck for you. You lost 10 International Match Points on the hand. You would have gained 14 had Sam gone wrong and the difference would have put you on the team.'"

Diplomacy Handled Via Airmail

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson goes before Congress tonight with a war and peace report expected to provide for continuing his "Great Society" domestic program.

In a State of the Union address to be carried by radio and television networks at 9 p.m. EST, Johnson planned to bring members up to date on his Viet Nam peace offensive aimed at starting negotiations with the Communists to end the Southeast Asia fighting.

There was no advance indication that he would be able to announce any response from a memorandum covering U.S. peace objectives passed directly to North Vietnamese representatives.

But while Radio Hanoi continued to berate the President's call for unconditional discussions, the absence of any formal public rejection of the memorandum stirred some hopes in Congress that there may be grounds for believing they might yet materialize.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — All seems well in the movie world when John Wayne is making another Western.

He is doing just that now, costarring with Robert Mitchum in "Eldorado" for Paramount. The producer-director is Wayne's old buddy Howard Hawks, the lean, sagacious moviemaker who created "Red River" and "Rio Bravo," as well as the veldt-Western, "Hatari."

Wayne clomped into Stage 15 one day after lunch to chat about his long career as he was being made up for the next scene. With or without makeup, he looked the way most men wish they would look at 58.

The actor conceded he has put in lengthy service in Westerns.

"It'll be 37 years March 17," he recalled. That's when young Duke (nee Marion) Morrison, late of the University of Southern California football team, made connections with the film industry.

In 1929 he suffered a name change and was signed by

A presidential pledge to continue the search for peace was expected to soften the grim possibility that the war may have to be accelerated if the Communists persist in refusing to talk.

Aides indicated Johnson may come up with some over-all total, ranging between $10 billion and $115 billion, for a new budget. Any such total, for the fiscal year beginning next July 1, would not include the $12 billion to $13 billion in additional funds administration officials have been talking about to finance the war.

Johnson said in a letter from which AFL-CIO President George Meany quoted Tuesday that he is "determined to press ahead in building the Great Society." Meany had expressed fears in a letter to the President that mounting war costs might force a cutback in domestic programs, such as the war on poverty.

The union leader said that through efficient management eliminating outmoded functions, and reductions in some other areas, Johnson said substantial savings had been found to finance the social programs the first session of Congress voted.

Even though he holds expenditures in the latter field to about this year's level, Johnson seems likely to face demands for reductions from a Congress that appears bent on making the Viet Nam war its overriding order of business.

Gill said the victim's brother, James Posey, 25, told him he was practicing drawing a .22 caliber pistol when it accidentally discharged.

tough, one-eyed Raoul Walsh to star in a large-scale Western, "The Big Trail."

"I nearly didn't make the picture," Wayne said. "I was in bed for three weeks with dysentery, and I was sick as a dog. Walsh said he could not wait much longer for me, so I got up and reported for work."

Wayne survived; "The Big Trail" didn't.

"It was the first of the big-screen pictures," he explained. "Theaters had to buy new equipment and screens to show it, and nobody had any money. This was in the depression."

The Wayne career fell into eclipse, and he was banished to grinding out six-day Westerns. Not until the monumental "Stage Coach" in 1939 was his career revived. Since then he has ruled the range. This year he was again among the top 10 box-office stars, marking his 17th citation as a moneymaker.

Sisters Have Their Car Back Now

QUI NHON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Sisters of the Cross of Love have their car back in running order but it took five U.S. helicopters to do it.

The story goes back a year to the village of Buan Thuan, 10 miles north of Qui Nhon and 280 miles northeast of Saigon, on the South China Sea coast.

The Viet Cong seized the place and Sister Julianne, acting as mother superior, herded her handful of nuns out to safety.

They left behind their little diesel-powered vehicle, but first stripped it of battery, distributor cap and other vital so it could not be operated.

Bridges in and out of the village were down and the car couldn't get far anyhow.

Two months ago Korean troops came back to Xuan Thuan and the bridges still were out and the village was an oasis surrounded by the Viet Cong.

The nuns went back to their convent base and found the vehicle useless.

Sister Julianne is stubborn about things that are useless. She appealed for help.

The U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division responded. Five choppers were lined up for the job. In went tires. Pathfinders secured the area. A Chinook hovered over the beat-up old vehicle, picked it up and brought it out. The rescued vehicle was landed in Qui Nhon and now is transporting children to school, running errands for the parish and is a generally pretty zippy addition to the work of the church.

LBJ Likes Lull on the Home Front

By NEIL GILBRIDE

AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, pressing peace efforts to end the war in Viet Nam, faces a welcome lull in the home front battle against economic strife and the threat of inflation.

With the Big Steel price flap settled, the prospects during the rest of 1966 are for a minimum of major labor-industry squabbles threatening big strikes or widespread wage-price escalation.

Johnson, who didn't hesitate to remind both unions and management that U.S. fighting men were dying in Viet Nam, had to step into a number of big disputes last year, including steel negotiations and shipping strikes.

But this year will see the fewest major labor contract negotiations in recent years, reducing the chances of White House intervention in the name of the national interest.

However, there are some exceptions that could force Johnson back into the labor-management arena at the national level.

An estimated record $8 billion a year in deferred wage increases go to some 4 million workers in 1966 and may bear watching for potential upward pressure on prices.

But government economists generally believe these wage increases — negotiated previously in long-term contracts — will cause little inflationary squeeze because businessmen have had plenty of time to figure them into pricing policies.

Perhaps the biggest potential threat to labor peace is a renewal of economic warfare in the railroad industry, which enjoyed its first relatively peaceful year in 1965 since 1960.

Five train operating unions plan to demand wage increases, and a flareup is expected in the locomotive firemen's case.

The firemen, who have lost some 17,000 jobs under a federal arbitration ruling, already have demanded a 25 per cent wage hike and insist the railroads fill all the abolished jobs when the two-year arbitration law expires March 31.

"Frivolous," snapped chief railroad negotiator J. E. Wolfe in indicating stiff industry resistance.

Railroad talks, always a headache under the complicated Railway Labor Act, could turn into "a can of worms," one federal official said.

In the past, railroad negotiations have frequently wound up in the White House.

Machinists' wage demands in joint talks with seven major airlines could also cause trouble requiring some government action.

Harry Bridges, West Coast longshoremen's chief, plans to go after major wage increases that could rattle five years of labor peace on the Pacific waterfront.

But East Coast shipping, torn by labor strife throughout 1965, should be calm.

Seven AFL-CIO unions will make a major drive for bigger contract gains from two major firms — General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp. — but observers see no trouble for the administration there.

The communications workers conceivably could tangle with the national interest in expected tough negotiations with 19 major divisions of the Bell Telephone System.

The United Mineworkers Union — which won its first wage increase in six years in 1964 — will seek more for coal miners this year. But indications are for a peaceful settlement.

Besides these major contract talks on the horizon, there are the usual host of smaller negotiations.

Strike activity — a six-year high in 1965 — is expected to be down substantially in 1966.

Another to Seek Harris' Position

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The wheels have begun turning to elect a successor to Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., who resigns his seat in the U.S. House on Feb. 3 to become a federal judge.

Leon Catlett of Little Rock, the Democratic state chairman, announced Tuesday that members of the Democratic State Committee would meet here Jan. 25 to set up mechanics for a special primary election in the 4th Congressional District.

He said a preferential primary would be recommended for March 15 and a run-off, if needed, two weeks later.

Harris' Feb. 3 resignation and the March 15 preferential primary would give candidates time to file for the office and campaign, Catlett said.

Republicans have criticized the idea of primaries, calling instead for a special election without the delay of primaries.

Catlett said after a conference with Gov. Orval E. Faubus that Faubus plans to set the special election sometime in May.

He said Republicans could hold party primaries on the same date as the Democrats. The state reapportionment plan also enters the matter.

Catlett said the primary would be held in the old 28-county 4th District which has been reorganized into a 20-county district.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett says he personally favors voting the 28-county district but adds that it would be better if someone filed a suit and got a court ruling on the matter.

"Anybody contemplating running should welcome a suit," Bennett said. "If they hold the election in 28 counties, and nobody, but it's dangerous."

Bennett is a possible candidate for the House seat which Harris will vacate. He said there are good arguments in favor of both the 28-county and 20-county districts.

Terse Soviet Note Sent to Albania

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government sent a terse, formal note to Albania today, congratulating Communist China's European ally on the 20th birthday of its Communist government.

The presidium of the Supreme Soviet, the parliament of the Soviet Union, sent "cordial congratulations" and expressed "the conviction that friendship between our peoples will strengthen in the interests of peace and socialism."

Plants Seem in Big Rush to Expand

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — One night on the state of the Union is being cast by the nation's steel furnaces. And a sidelight is offered by the rush of corporate announcements of plans to expand business activities and plants.

Steel output is picking up sharply as new orders roll in after the rising price trend in a number of steel products. The nation's attention was focused on this trend by the confrontation of some steel companies with the administration over the price of structural steel, and the eventual compromise that let prices rise on some items while being held on others.

And the strong urge to grow still bigger is revealed in the expansion plans being announced almost daily by one or more manufacturers. Often there are complaints by others that their worst worries just now are about delays in deliveries of some badly needed materials and equipment. Outcrops in expansion plans have been few indeed.

There are problems, but business confidence in continuing economic growth in spite of the Viet Nam war uncertainties and inflation threats still is apparently untouched.

The spurt in steel production this month apparently caught many in and out of the industry by surprise. Last fall the mills were looking for a fairly slow period through the early weeks of 1966 while customers lived off inventories built up early last year as a hedge against a strike which didn't happen.

Steelmen say their customers are coming back into the market faster than was expected. Booming business in a number of industries using steel is given as one reason. Expectation of still better business ahead is another. And some customers may fear that the pattern of selective price rises involved in the government-business compromise will spread to other lines than structural steel. Price increases in a number of steel products have, in fact, occurred over recent weeks.

Orders of steel for defense are just beginning to rise, steelmen say. Disclosure later this month of what the new federal budget will call for may swell the orders for metal for military hardware.

Just now the big push seems to be coming from the decision of steel customers to keep their stocks at a high level because of the bright prospects for most businesses. The move to live off strike-hedge inventories appears to have been much shorter than feared earlier — and the steel industry is happy at the change.

Naked Look Does Nothing for the Man

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — What the topless bathing suit did for the ladies, the new "naked look" should do for men: not much. The "naked look" is about the latest thing in men's swimwear. It features several silver dollar-sized holes placed here and there in an ordinary looking pair of swim trunks.

"But this is really just a kook item," said Bob Moore, one of some 525 representatives displaying latest styles at the spring market of the Southwest Men's and Boys' Apparel Club in Dallas.

Three thousand retail buyers from 16 states are looking over 1,400 lines of conventional, continental and new-look, high-style merchandise.

The new look for men this spring encompasses everything from surfer swim trunks to double-breasted blazers. The emphasis is on color.

Poika dots, paisley and pareu are in. Pin-stripes, pants pleats and anything plain are out.

Beet-bottom slacks are coming in. Padded shoulders will never get back in.

Even neckties are radical compared with last year's standards. Bold, vibrant colors are dominant, and some patterns are masterpieces of florid, intricate detail.

The American male is just now reaping the benefits of the "fashion bill of rights" which developed after World War II, says Robert L. Green of New York.

Green was on hand Monday night as producer of the Dallas presentation of the Caswell-Massey fashion awards, held here for the first time.

Green said the revolution in men's fashions the past few years was the result of widespread economic well being and the cohesive effect of modern communications.

"The privileges of the rich are now becoming the pleasures of everyone," he said.

Battle Is on for Athletic LBJ Gives War.

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major fight on the rule setting minimum academic standards for athletes was shaping up today at the National Collegiate Athletic Association convention with the elite Ivy League leading the dissenters.

The rule in question was passed last year and became effective Jan. 1, 1966. It requires athletes to have an average of 1.6 on a 4.0 standard, or roughly a C-minus average.

The fight is emerging over extremely complex amendments aimed at strengthening the basic rule. The amendments were scheduled for floor action today.

The eight members of the Ivy League expressed their dissatisfaction with the whole affair in a district meeting Tuesday, largely through Athletic Directors Delaney Kipphut of Yale and Jerry Ford of Penn.

Their cry is one they've used before—"institutional autonomy." That is, they object to any outside source having any say on their grades or admission standards.

NCAA Executive Director Walter Byers said no Ivy League representatives have approached him or the NCAA council during the convention. He added, however, that the eight Ivy League schools have indicated they will not accept or abide by the legislation.

If the schools follow that course, they would still be allowed to compete in league competition but would be ineligible for national championship events.

Also scheduled for consideration today was a resolution by New Mexico calling for a return to one-plateau football and abolishing unlimited substitution. The plan is expected to have little support.

Narrows Dam to Mena Line Planned

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Public Service Commission has set a hearing for Jan. 26 on an application to build a 58.5-mile, 69,000-volt transmission line from Narrows Dam to Mena.

Southwestern Electric Power Co. of Shreveport applied Tuesday to build the line which would cost an estimated $80,000. Southwestern also asked for authority to build a $196,350 substation and switching plant near Mena.

The commission also set Jan. 26 as the date for a hearing on Southwestern's application for authority to build a 2.44-mile, 69,000-volt line from the Fitzhugh Generating Plant to Ozark. It would cost $37,400.

Man Is Found Fatally Shot

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Joe R. Gribble, 59, of Little Rock, was found fatally shot here Tuesday with a 30-30 rifle on the floor at his feet.

Dr. L. Gordon Holt, deputy county coroner, ruled the death accidental. Officers said rifle cleaning equipment was on the floor by the chair in which Gribble's body was found.

Arkansas Is Held Off by A&M 75-72

By TED MEIER

"We can't expect any fabulous record," said George Carlisle, coach of the Rice Owls, before the college basketball season opened.

He was so right. In contrast to the Duke Blue Devils, the country's No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll, who edged Clemson 87-85 Tuesday night for their 10th in a row, the Owls lost their 24th straight. They absorbed a 97-79 defeat at the hands of Texas Christian at Fort Worth to make their current record 0-12. Their carry-over string of defeats from last season, when they compiled a 2-22 over-all record, also is 12. Their last victory came against Baylor 56-58 last January.

Actually Rice has lost 25 in a row, but the Owls' defeat by the A&M Phillips Oilers is listed as an exhibition by the NCAA and not counted in the official records. The Owls have one consolation. Even if they lose all of their remaining 11 games this season, they will not break the record for most consecutive losing games by a major college. The Citadel holds the mark at 37.

Steve Vacendak's layup with only two seconds left gave Duke its squeaker win over Clemson. Playing at home, Clemson came from six points back to tie the Blue Devils at 85-85 on Jim Sutherland's jumper from the corner with 50 seconds to go. Duke called time out and passed the ball around, playing for a final shot. Vacendak took it from five feet out and sank an underhand layup to win the game. Vacendak was high for the Blue Devils with 28 points. Randy Mahaffey's 23 topped the Tigers.

Duke's victory gave the Blue Devils first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 4-1 record.

Illinois regained sole possession of first place in the Big Ten with an 80-64 victory over Wisconsin at Champaign and Texas A&M clung to the lead in the Southwest Conference by holding off Arkansas 75-72 at College Station, Tex.

The sixth-ranked Providence Friars, the only other team in The AP Top Ten to play Tuesday, whipped Rhode Island 86-79 at Kingston, R.I., behind Jimmy Walker's 38 points.

Davidson, playing at home, got a scare from The Citadel, but won 81-77. Stan Felsing's basket with 18 seconds to go gave Columbia an 87-66 victory over Fordham on the Rams' court while Baylor downed Texas 89-75 for the Bears' first victory over the Longhorns at Austin, Tex., in seven years.

Don Freeman, with 27 points, and sophomore Rich Jones, with 25, paced Illinois over the Wisconsin Badgers. John Beasley's 29 points sparked Texas A&M over Arkansas.

Rangers Lose Scoring Flash

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Rangers, mired in fifth place at the half-way mark of the National Hockey League race, have lost scoring flash Rod Gilbert for the remainder of the season.

New York's faint hope of overtaking fourth-place Toronto for the final post-season playoff spot all but evaporated Tuesday with the announcement that Gilbert, who led the club with 25 goals last year, will undergo spinal surgery Feb. 1.

The 24-year-old right wing, who has tallied 70 goals in 3½ seasons with the Rangers, will enter a New York hospital Jan. 24. Dr. Kazuo Yanagisawa, the club physician who will perform the operation, said he expects the recovery period will be at least six months.

Gilbert, who was operated on five years ago for a back injury, reinjured his spine last summer. Wearing a steel brace, he played in 34 of the Rangers' first 35 games and scored 10 goals.

San Diego Open Starts Thursday

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Defending champion Wes Ellis Jr., and his professional golfing for the pro-amateur prelude to brethren divided forces today the $44,500 San Diego Open tournament which gets under way Thursday.

Ellis and hometown product Bill Casper Jr., wound up in a tie a year ago and Ellis' birdie three on the first hole of the sudden-death playoff won the event.

It was a torrid duel to the Ellis a 65 in the final round for Ellis a 65 in the final round for a 72-hole score of 287.

The San Diego event, second on the 1966 winter tour, is played at the Stardust Country Club, par 35-66-71 over some 6,700 yards in the green Mission Valley country.

Three of golf's brighter stars, Arnold Palmer, who won the Los Angeles Open last Sunday; Gary Player, and Jack Nicklaus are not entered here.

Among the foreign contestants entered is George Knudson of Canada, whose 289 gave him fifth in the 1965 tournament.

Gene Littler, another San Diego hero, is aboard. Littler shot a 62 in the first round a year ago, but Ellis forged into the lead in the second, held it through the third and seemingly was breezing home until Casper barged in with a 4 on the last day.

Things Still Popping in Pro Sweepstakes

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The latest standings in the pro football coaching sweepstakes show:

One resignation—Wally Lemm at St. Louis, by mutual consent.

One hiring—George Allen at Los Angeles, without mutual consent.

Still open—Five jobs, and George Halas' mouth.

The latest shuffling and scuffling occurred Monday when Lemm and the Cardinals owners agreed to a parting and the Rams and Halas agreed to disagree over Allen's decision to leave the Chicago Bears for the head coaching job at Los Angeles.

Halas, infuriated at losing his defensive coach to the Rams, cited the signing of Allen as "a flagrant case of tampering" and said the "Rams' utter disregard and contempt for legal obligations present a serious challenge not only to the Bears but to the entire structure of the National Football League."

And he threatened action in a higher court—Commissioner Pete Rozelle's—by saying "the Bears must take whatever steps are needed to protect our best interest."

Halas pointed out that Allen still had two years to go on his contract with the Bears and had been expected to fulfill the terms of his agreement.

Dan Rooney, president of the Rams, said Allen had first contacted the club to see if they were interested, then had sought Halas' permission to talk to the Rams.

"Mr. Halas gave him this permission," said Reeves. "Later, George Halas rescinded this permission and his objection was quite strong. Mr. Halas said he didn't want me to take Mr. Allen, or, if you prefer, Mr. Allen to take me."

But, added Reeves: "I can't believe George Halas will stand in his way."

Lemm, however, did let one thing stand in his way. He wanted to be the Cardinals' head coach on a six-month basis.

"When I hired Wally we wanted a coach who would be with us the year around," said Cardinals President Charles Bidwill. "We knew that Wally wanted to be head coach on a six-month basis and that was fine."

In the ensuing years, however, we felt more and more strongly that we wanted ahead coach that would be with us all the time. When the issue came up again today, there was no compromise available, and by mutual consent, he is leaving the Cardinals."

Lemm leaves a club as disappointing as the one Allen takes over.

The Cardinals, considered as title contenders before the season got underway, finished with a 5-9 record—the second worst in Lemm's four years as head coach. The Rams were last in the Western Division with a 4-10 record under Harlan Savre.

Four jobs now remain open in the National League and one in the American League.

The NFL openings are at St. Louis; Atlanta, which still has no signed a coach for its new club; Pittsburgh, where Mike Nixon has been fired, and Washington, where Bill McPeak has been fired.

With Joel Collier taking over for resigning Lou Saban at Buffalo, one AFL job remains open—at Miami, which still has not signed a coach for its new club.

Celtics Coach Likes Little Challenge

By DON BANDY
Associated Press Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics is used to winning, but he likes a little challenge in it.

"There wasn't much of a challenge, was there?" said Auerbach after he coached the East to a lopsided 137-94 victory over the West in the National Basketball Association's 18th All-Star Game Tuesday night.

The only surprise was a second stringer — Adrian Smith of the Cincinnati Royals — winning the Most Valuable Player award. Smith, who at 6-foot-2 is one of the smallest players in the NBA, grabbed scoring honors with 24 points and took home a shiny, red convertible for being voted the MVP by sports writers.

The East, led by Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia and Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas of Cincinnati, turned the game into a rout in the first quarter when they built an 18-point margin over the outclassed West team. The East led 63-36 at the half and was ahead by 33 points at the end of the third period, 101-64.

A disappointed Fred Schaus of Los Angeles, coach of the West team, said, "I haven't seen too many All-Star teams with the depth of the East team. They simply had too much personnel."

The East sank 53 of 118 field goal attempts for 45 per cent. The West made only 35 of 120 shots.

The West's hopes faded in the second quarter when high-scoring Jerry West of Los Angeles

Guernsey and Hope Split Three Games

Three Hope teams went to Guernsey Tuesday night and won two games. The Guernsey Junior girls were outlasted 43 to 24 with McKemie tossing in 22. Adams was high for Guernsey with 14.

The Hope Ladycats edged Guernsey 32 to 28 with Lewis sacking 17 while Coleman tossed in 10 for the losers.

The Guernsey Senior boys salvaged the only win of the night with a 69 to 51 victory over the Hope B team. Griffiths tossed in 23 for the winners and Westbrook had 1 for the losers.

Friday night the Guernsey teams travel to Garland for 3 games.

AFL Ends 2 Day Drills for Big Game

HOUSTON (AP) — The American Football League All-Stars brought their two-day drills to an end Tuesday amid Coach Sid Gillman's enthusiasm and word that San Diego receiver Lance Alworth will make the game.

"I've just been delighted," Gillman said of the workouts. "The quarterbacks are throwing well, we're catching the ball and we have a lot of snap."

Gillman said Alworth had received the go-ahead from the team physician to play against the Buffalo Bills in the post-season game Saturday at Rice Stadium.

Alworth brings the All-Stars' strength to 40 men.

The All-Stars, which began the week with two-a-day workouts, now will practice once each morning through Friday.

The Bills have been going through one-a-days since their first session Monday.

First announcements said Alworth wouldn't play for the All-Stars because of a hairline rib fracture the flashy flankerback sustained in the championship game with Buffalo.

"We'll tape him up real good and protect with extra padding," Gillman said Tuesday. "This year's game boasts a new format. Previously, it matched All-Star teams representing the league's Eastern and Western divisions."

Jerry West Has Eye Injury

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jerry West, Los Angeles Lakers' guard, suffered an abrasion of the cornea Tuesday night in the National Basketball Association's All-Star Game, but was released after treatment at a hospital.

Los Angeles Coach Fred Schaus said it was indefinite whether West would play in the Lakers' game against the Boston Celtics tonight.

West, a member of the West squad which was beaten by the East team 137-94, suffered the right eye injury in a collision with three players in the second quarter of the All-Star Game.

Has Plan to Get Players for Dolphins

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Thomas, who's been through this once before, has his own plan on stocking the American Football League's new Miami Dolphins.

Thomas handled the problem of putting a club together when the Minnesota Vikings were added to the National Football League five years ago and, although he's changed leagues, he hasn't altered his formula.

In New York to review game films of the eight existing AFL clubs who will stock the Dolphins with 32 players, Thomas says he'll pick the best players available from the stocking lists — regardless of position.

"We may wind up overstocked in something like defensive tackles," says Thomas, "but if we're the best available we may be able to trade for a better defensive back than might be on the list we're picking from."

"We're going to take the best football players available and make the necessary adjustments later."

The AFL stocking plan permits the eight existing clubs to freeze 23 players each. The Dolphins then will pick two players from each club before the existing teams freeze one more player and Miami picks two more men from each roster.

Thomas has the player lists but the Dolphins' director of personnel says the job of making choices isn't an easy one.

"I've seen games every week-end," says Thomas "and I know a player's college and pro background, but still it's hard to rate players after you go through the lists and get down to the top five or six."

Papa Bear Is Burned Over Resignation

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — That growl reverberating through the National Football League is from George (Papa Bear) Halas owner-coach of the Chicago Bears.

The 70-year-old professional football pioneer is doing a fast burn over the fact that assistant coach George Allen resigned to become head coach for the Los Angeles Rams. So much so that the Bears are going to court today in an hearing to keep Allen from departing.

Halas filed a breach of contract suit Tuesday in an attempt to keep Allen, whose three-year contract at $19,000 a year doesn't expire until 1968, from going to Los Angeles.

Almost in the same vein of a key government man defecting, Halas claims Allen has not only taken all the Bear secrets with him to Los Angeles but also is undermining Bear chances for the National Football League title this year.

Not that anyone is ready to concede the Bears the 1966 championship, but Halas maintains that Allen has "special, exceptional and unique knowledge and skill as a coach which cannot be measured in monetary terms and cannot be adequately compensated."

"Unless he (Allen) is restrained," the complaint reads, "he will use this information in coaching the Rams against the Bears."

Allen resigned as a Bear assistant Saturday and signed an undisclosed contract as head coach of the Rams Monday night.

In his resignation letter to Halas, Allen said, "No man ever owed more to another than I do to you for all you have done for me. No one has ever had a more agonizing experience in arriving at a decision than I have had in bringing myself in this final act of resignation."

"The opportunity which has been offered to me to become head coach of the Los Angeles Rams is one I feel I must accept. The job of realizing this ambition is marred only by the regret in leaving a team, and an association with you, which has given me the most rewarding years of my life."

Allen's letter had no affect on Halas.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the NFL, told Halas in a statement that "it has been traditional in the NFL and throughout sports that assistant coaches be permitted to take advantage of opportunity for advancement."

"On the basis of this historical precedence, in fact as it is now known, this office finds no cause at this time to interfere with the Los Angeles Rams' signing of George Allen as head coach. It is hoped that the matter can be amicably resolved by the two clubs."

Most crocodiles feed on fishes, turtles, birds, mammals and some animals too large to swallow whole, such as a deer or cow. In these cases, this is accomplished by first drowning the animal and then spinning it around and around until its limbs are dismembered. Food is swallowed in chunks, since crocodiles are unable to chew.

Soluble coffee was first introduced in the early 19th century, but it did not become a commercial product until an American chemist invented a "refined soluble coffee" in 1906. It went on the market in the United States in 1909. Its use by the armed forces in World War II in field rations gave it greater popularity. Today between one-fourth and one-third of all coffee prepared in U.S. homes is of the soluble type.

Says Ladies Should Cut Hair Short

By KELLY SMITH
NEW YORK (AP) — Vidal Sassoon, the London hair stylist who makes Jane Fonda look like a girl, claims every woman in America ought to get rid of her hair "so she'll have time to do some real living."

Nightly pinups, teasing, bouffant hairdos and bobby pins are ridiculous, he says, "especially when this country is otherwise such a modern, spectacular place."

Short hair, he says, would give women time to be more feminine.

Sassoon expressed his views for 200 fashion writers attending New York Couture Group style previews Monday. The ladies gasped when shown one German model with platinum blonde hair shorter than Sassoon's.

"Every woman would cut her hair this way if she saw how easy it is," says Anna Lenz of Munich. To contrast her close-cropped hair, she wears make-up that takes an hour to put on. "Men love my hair short," says Sassoon model Judy Mursch, 23, of Copenhagen, Denmark. "They rub their hands in it. They can't believe it's so straight thick. I think it's very sexy."

Kelly McKeown, 28, of New York, wears her blonde hair in what looks like a blown cut. "It's so interesting I get twice as many job bookings now," she says.

Sassoon charges $25 when he cuts a girl's hair, and she must have it recut every two to three weeks.

"Each girl's hair is done individually," he says, "it's styled to her bone structure and contour of her face. She can brush it any direction and it will look perfect."

Sassoon, 38 this month and handsome, has been cutting women's hair for 20 years. Most important is the over-all image.

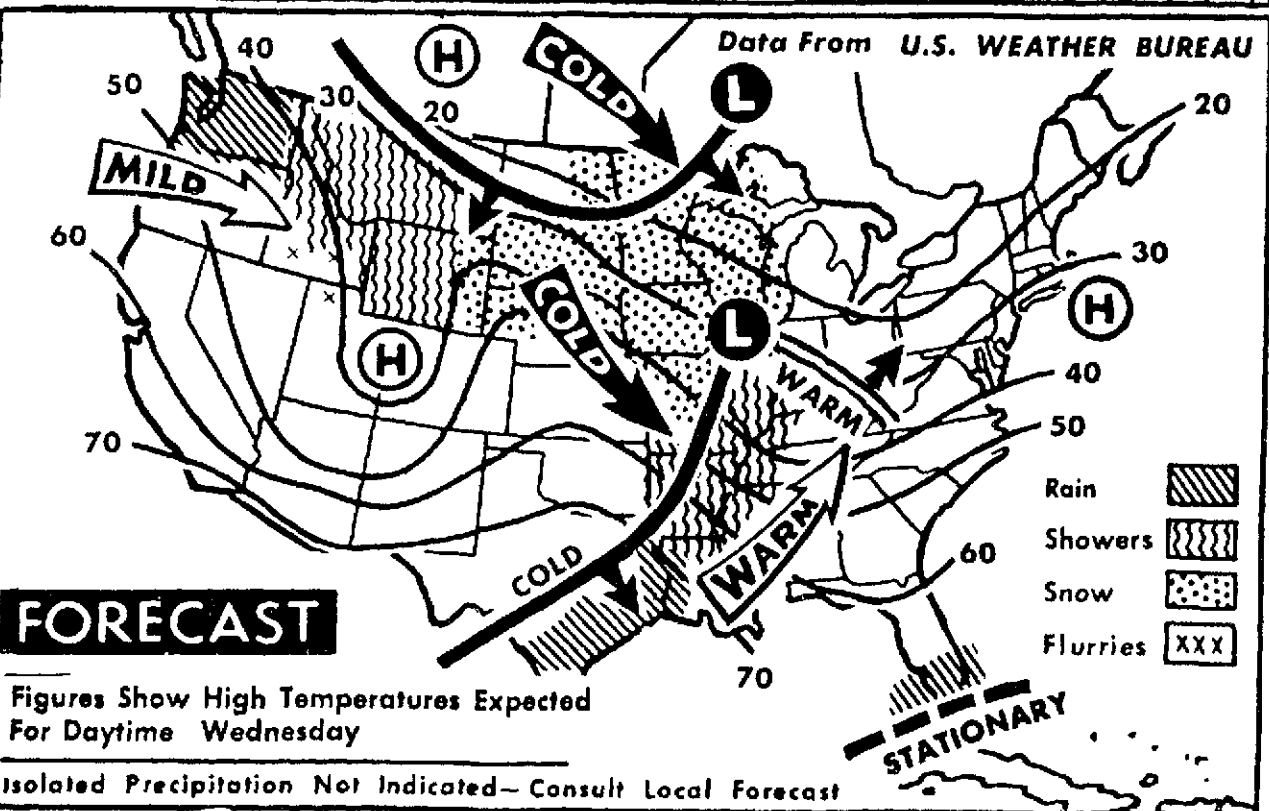

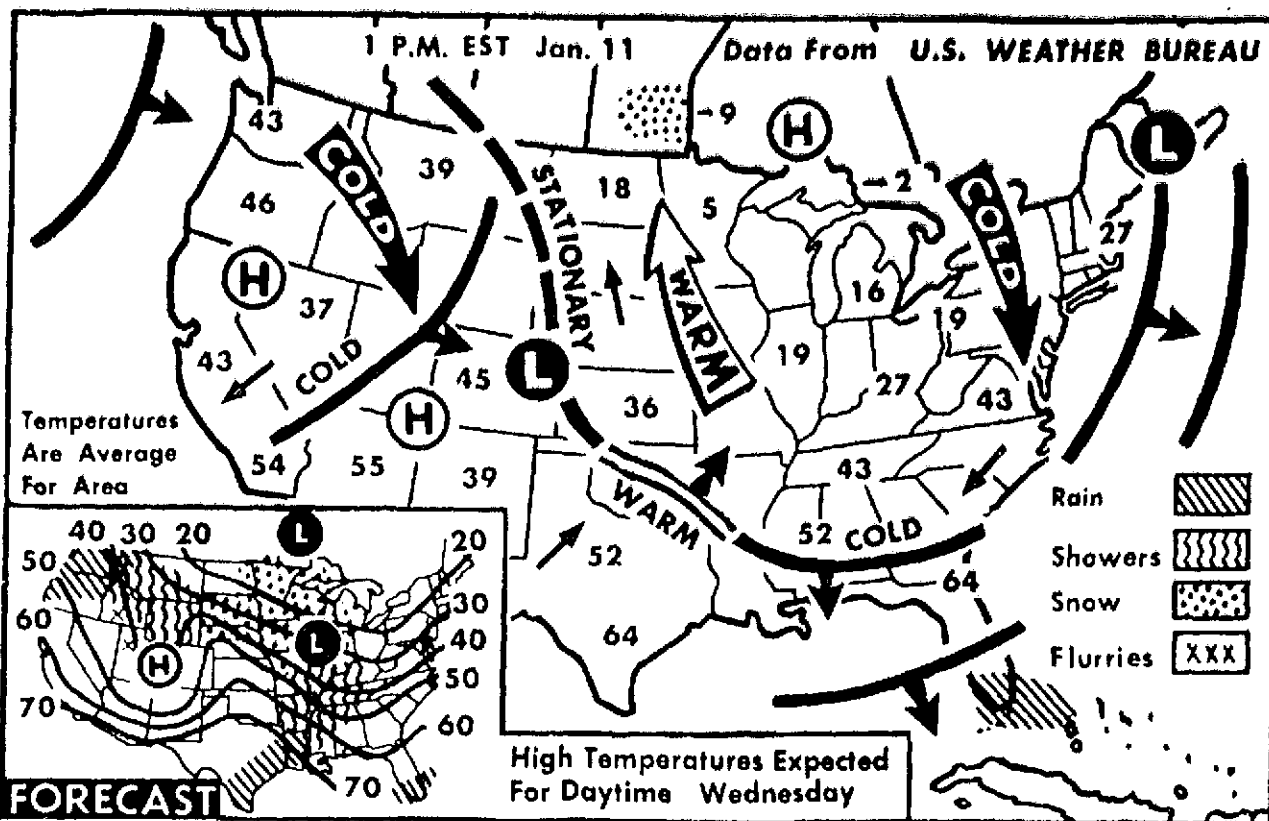

"The clothes image is destroyed without a good haircut," he says. "Modern clothes need short, architectural hair." He has a new style, also short, ready for the Paris and Rome fashion openings, but he won't talk about it. He just laughs.

So far, ladies in this country aren't rushing to their hairdressers to cut their tresses.

In the words of beauty expert Virginia Graham: "Imagine showing your wedding pictures and have people ask, 'Which one's the groom?'"

Sassoon shrugs off criticism.

Why Don't We Train Kids To Work?

While the South is attracting more and more new industry, it is doing only a half-way job of training young people for it. That is the conclusion of a comprehensive report on "High Schools in the South" prepared by the George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, Tenn.

For example, because so many Southern high schools are still small, with limited course offerings, 59 per cent of the secondary school students in the region are unable to take trade or industrial arts courses. In North Carolina this figure rises to 65 per cent.

The Peabody study points out that in high schools with enrollments of less than 500 the students are usually deprived of industrial arts and advanced high school math. Usually they can get very little in the way of foreign languages, art and music. Yet nearly half (47 per cent) of North Carolina's students are still attending such small high schools and about 35 per cent of the 2.3 million Southern high school students are in institutions with enrollments numbering less than 500.

The Peabody report, which covers 4,776 schools in 11 Southern states, concludes that it is the size of the school that largely determines "whether any given youth has an opportunity to enroll in a variety of suitable courses, under conditions favorable to effective teaching and learning."

This lesson is a hard one to learn. The average community wants to keep its high school because of the basketball games and other programs and natural community pride. Yet these small high schools can't provide the education that young people in the South now need. Only large, consolidated high schools can give the range of courses and the quality of education that the new, industrialized South calls for. — Asheville (N. C.) Citizen and Times

New Coalition for Israeli

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—Prime Minister Levi Eshkol has formed a new coalition government drawn from his government drawn from Achdut Mapai Labor Party and Achdut Avodah, the National Religious party, the Mapam and the Independent Liberals.

Eshkol is expected to present his new cabinet to the Knesset (parliament) Wednesday. The coalition controls 73 of the Knesset's 120 votes and was formed on the basis of the Nov. 2 parliamentary elections.

Eshkol will retain the defense portfolio in the new cabinet. Deputy Prime Minister Abba Eban will take over as foreign minister from Mrs. Golda Meir, who is retiring after serving in the post since 1956.

Another U. S. Flag Burned

PANAMA (AP)—Demonstrators have burned the U.S. flag for the second time in two days at a rally marking the second anniversary of the bloody Panama Canal Zone riots.

Barely 100 persons showed up for the second rally in Santa Ana Plaza Monday night. Speakers of the leftist Students' Union attacked the United States and proclaimed solidarity with Fidel Castro and Mao Tse-tung.

Across the bandstand was a large banner inscribed "The new treaty will not pass." It referred to a new Panama Canal treaty being negotiated with the United States.

The 1964 riots over Panamanian sovereignty in the zone took the lives of 21 Panamanians and 4 Americans.

According to the Farmers Almanac Question of Who Has Best Life Is Unsettled

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Who has it better in life—man or woman?

I had always thought that most people were pretty well satisfied to be a member of the sex they were born into.

However, it appears my viewpoint may be wrong. According to an article in "The Farmers Almanac," my authority in such matters, 65 per cent of women would prefer to be men because they feel men have more freedom.

The article pointed out some of the disadvantages of being a man. Such as that men work at more dangerous occupations and are four times as likely to be killed in accidents and three times as likely to become homicide victims.

So what price freedom? Furthermore, the article said: Women collect 80 per cent of all life insurance, 63 per cent of inheritances, and own 60 per cent of savings accounts. They also go less often to jail or mental hospitals, and live longer than men.

Looking at it philosophically, it does appear that anyone given a choice would prefer being a woman, doesn't it? But man does not live by philosophy alone.

Even though he may live five to seven years less than a woman, he'd rather spend those years as a man.

Here are a few reasons why a masculine role appeals to him and a feminine role doesn't: Any bar in town will serve him whether or not he has an escort.

If his back itches in public, he can scratch it in public.

The mere thought of bearing children appalls him. He sometimes finds it hard to bear children after they are born, and couldn't think of being host to them before birth.

A man knows that he could never master the art of dressing like a woman. As it is now, he puffs after bending over to tie his shoelaces. He realizes he could never summon the strength to squirm his way into and out of a tight-fitting girdle—and no women ever seem to wear a loose one.

A man can get along with the face he has; a woman is always putting on a new one.

Women are a nuisance to themselves in other ways. They are always plucking their eyebrows, varnishing their fingernails, taking bubble baths, or squinting at themselves in mirrors.

A man can get a haircut and shampoo in 20 minutes; a woman in a beauty shop wastes half a day under a hair dryer that looks like a metal moon helmet.

All in all, however, each sex has advantages to be grateful for and disadvantages to put up with. Since there isn't a great deal that can be done about it, perhaps the most sensible motto is:

"To each his own."

Temperatures Moderate in Regions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Temperatures moderated in the cold regions of the Midwest today but icy air spread eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

Below-zero cold in the Midwest was confined to areas in Northern Lower Michigan, with the mercury dropping to -19 at Pellston. As the cold air spread eastward subzero readings were reported in sections of New England and upstate New York. Cold wave warnings were in effect for New England and northeastern New York.

The Midwest got some measure of relief as fairly warm air from the Southwest sent temperatures above zero in some cities for the first time in several days. At International Falls, Minn., where the mercury dropped to 40 below Tuesday, the early morning reading was 6 above.

Stiff northerly winds fanned the cold air eastward. Some of the chill extended into sections of the Southeast. Snow flurries fell along the southern shores of Lakes Ontario and Erie and in the upper Great Lakes region. Nearly a foot of snow piled up in the Lake Ontario area Tuesday, forcing some schools to close.

Citizens National Bank held its official meet this morning and three changes were made, according to President Robert LaGrone.

Mitchell LaGrone was named vice-president and cashier; Olin Lewis was elected vice-president and assistant cashier; Cecil O'Steen was also named assistant vice-president and cashier. All other officers and the Board remained the same.

Mr. LaGrone also announced that the bank's surplus had been increased to $1 million with total assets at $13.5 million.

Red Jones Seeks 4th Dist. Post

LITTLE ROCK — State Auditor Jimmie (Red) Jones of Magnolia, announced today that he definitely will be a candidate to succeed U. S. Rep. Oren Harris of El Dorado as congressman of the Fourth District. Jones said he would run regardless of what type election will be held to fill the vacancy which will exist Feb. 2 when Harris leaves Congress to become a federal judge in Arkansas.

The state auditor's announcement ended months of speculation. He has been canvassing the Fourth District ever since Harris was nominated to the judgeship last July.

Jones, a former Columbus county tax assessor who has held state office since 1955, is the third candidate to announce he definitely is in the race. The others are Attorney Richard E. Arnold of Texarkana, and truckstop operator Dean Murphy of Hope and Texarkana.

The state officer told newsmen today "no one is certain how the election will be held but I am in the race to win." Gov. Orval Faubus, who must call the election, said he is in favor of a special primary followed by a special general election. However, Republican officials are pressing for a special election without a runoff.

Farm Workers Must Register

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Farmers have until Jan. 20 to register their employees for state income tax withholding, state Revenue Commissioner Doris McCastlain said Tuesday.

She said farmers with payrolls only during the growing and harvesting season may register employees until 30 days before they are hired.

Gin operators may either submit a permanent list of employees who will remit their income tax quarterly or of registering season employees up until 30 days before the gin starts operating, Mrs. McCastlain said.

India's Leaders Discuss Future Politically

By CONRAD FINK

NEW DELHI, India, (AP) — Leaders of India's ruling Congress party began discussing the political future today as the body of Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri was consigned to funeral flames by the holy Jumna River.

More than a million mourning Indians looked on as Shastri's eldest son, Hari Kishan, touched a blazing torch to the funeral pyre of sandalwood in accordance with Hindu rites.

A few moments before this final act, Shastri's successor, Prime Minister Gulzarilal Nanda, climbed the steps to the top of the pyre and stood silently, his face agnized with grief. Standing nearby were Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and many other foreign representatives.

Despite their grief, Nanda and Ummarawami Kamaraj, president of the Congress party, met early today to discuss election of a new parliamentary leader who traditionally is asked to form a new government.

There was no indication whether this meant that a challenge to Nanda was developing in the party. As home minister he was No. 2 man in Shastri's Cabinet, and his elevation after ru, and right-wing leader Morarji Devasi is believed likely to hold the top job until general elections next year.

At least three strong political figures are known to want the post of prime minister. They are Defense Minister Y.B. Chavan; Mrs. Indira Gandhi, information minister and daughter of the late Jawaharlal Nehru; and was pushed aside in favor of arji Desai.

Nanda served for five days as interim prime minister after Nehru's death 19 months ago but was pushed aside in favor of Shastri.

Shastri died early Tuesday in the Soviet city of Tashkent, apparently of a heart attack, after an exhausting week of peace negotiations with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan. The cremation climaxed a mass outpouring of grief for the unassuming little leader who in 19 stormy months had won the admiration and affection of India's troubled millions.

"Long live Lal Bahadur Shastri" welled up from the vast throng as the funeral procession passed along the crowded route to the cremation site. The crowd stretched as far as the eye could see and appeared as large as that at the funeral of Nehru in May 1964.

Cambodia Suspects Asia Foundation

TOKYO (AP)—Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, was quoted today as saying that many Cambodians suspect the Asia Foundation, the only U.S. organization remaining in Cambodia, is being used by the Central Intelligence Agency.

The New China News Agency said Sihanouk told a Buddhist congress on Jan. 7 that the suspicions are "substantiated, above all, by the foundation's persistence to be present in Cambodia in defiance of the growing hostility on the part of the Cambodian government and the people."

The Asia Foundation is a private aid organization. Cambodia broke diplomatic relations with the United States last year.

LBJ Gives War Report Tonight to Congress

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic channels stood idle when the little kingdom of Burundi decided to give the boot to the American ambassador.

It sent a letter — an airmail letter — to notify Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The letter arrived at the State Department in one of the big fat mailbags that are delivered daily.

"We get tons of mail," a State Department official said today. "It's hard to tell on the face of it whether an ordinary letter in open mail demands priority attention."

"That's not the way to transmit diplomatic notes."

Donald A. Dumont, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to the kingdom of Burundi, was ousted Monday from Bujumbura.

He arrived Tuesday at Leopoldville, the Congo, with two aides and a puzzled air.

Why were the three kicked out of the central African nation? "That's a $64 question," Dumont said.

In Washington, the State Department denied a "wholly without foundation" a Bujumbura charge that the American diplomats had maintained contacts with "conspirators" in Burundi.

The Burundi allegations and expulsion demand were made by Foreign Minister Marc Manirakiza in the airmail letter to Rusk.

The foreign minister's letter from Bujumbura was dated Dec. 29. It showed up in the State Department's African Affairs Bureau Jan. 10, the same day Dumont was being called to the Burundian Foreign Ministry and given 24 hours to get out.

Just when the letter got to Washington was part of the puzzle.

Tuesday the State Department ordered the expulsion of Burundi's ambassador here. That accomplished Washington's first such tit-for-tat in the 1966 diplomatic season.

Industrial Bonds at Pocahontas

POCAHONTAS, Ark. (AP) — Voters here have approved two industrial bond issues totaling $625,000, one a $500,000 issue to help build and equip a plant to produce missile and airplane parts.

The largest bond issue passed Tuesday by a vote of 1,944 for to 153 against. The plant would provide jobs for about 250 persons.

A $125,000 bond issue to expand Magee Manufacturing Co., makers of picture frames, passed 1,956 for to 125 against. The expansion would increase employment from 100 to about 200 persons, company officials said.

News Media Going Along With Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon believes most of the nation's newspapers, radio and television stations are going along with its recent request to withhold news about troop unit deployments until official announcements are made.

This form of voluntary censorship was proposed in a memorandum issued Oct. 30 by Arthur Sylvester, public information chief.

His memorandum said press corps members covering Viet Nam had agreed voluntarily to delay news stories or publication of photographs on movements of troops, ships or aircraft until officially announced by U.S. headquarters in Saigon. He requested media in the United States to do the same.

A furious barrage of heavy 120mm mortars from North Vietnamese regulars hit a company of infantrymen Tuesday, but U.S. spokesmen reported only light casualties. A track was blown off an armored personnel carrier when an unknown number of Communists exchanged fire with infantrymen for two hours at a likely ambush site.

At the leading edge of the drive, 173rd Airborne paratroopers bumped into a Viet Cong platoon Tuesday and the Communists decided to fight it out.

Paper Firm to Spend Millions

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — International Paper Co. plans to spend more than $31 million in Arkansas during 1966 and 1967, Vice President C. L. Crai said Tuesday.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Crai notified him by telegram from Mobile, Ala., that International Paper would expand its plants at Pine Bluff and Camden.

The expansion would increase industrial paper and bleached board production capacity at the two Arkansas mills and include installation of new recovery boilers at both plants, Faubus said.

Yanks Destroy Tunnels, Kill 23 Viet Cong

By THOMAS A. REEDY

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. troops killed 23 Viet Cong and uncovered and destroyed a network of tunnels more than a mile square today as they continued their biggest push of the war to drive the guerrillas from the edge of the Iron Triangle.

The day's report raised the Communist toll in five days of Operation Crimp to 107 insurgents killed and 80 captured. Weapons and supplies seized included 122 personal guns, 20 automatic weapons, a mortar, a recoilless rifle, 25,000 rounds of ammunition and 71 tons of rice.

As the Americans kept up their destructive blows on the edge of the Saigon River 25 miles northwest of the capital, U.S. and Vietnamese spokesmen reported 236 American and Vietnamese soldiers killed or missing last week compared with 714 Viet Cong killed or captured.

A U.S. military spokesman said American casualties for the week were 43 killed, 202 wounded and two missing or captured. The week before American casualties were 34 dead, 116 wounded and five missing or captured.

The South Vietnamese reported 118 of their men killed and 73 missing last week but refused to give the number of wounded.

With the steady rise of Communist casualties and materiel losses in Operation Crimp, initial disappointment among U.S. officers gradually yielded to some measure of satisfaction, although the big sweep still had not resulted in a major battle with the guerrillas.

There was no indication of any letup in the operation, which involves more than 8,000 troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, the 173rd Airborne Brigade and the Royal Australian Regiment.

"When you're on to a good thing you stay with it," an Army spokesman said.

The drive began at dawn Saturday when helicopters and armored columns drove to the edge of the Iron Triangle, a Communist stronghold since the French tried to quell the insurgents. Its objective was to cut off a Communist regiment in the area along the Saigon River and to destroy anything useful to the Viet Cong.

Although the main enemy force evaporated before the Allied drive, Communist rear guard elements made their presence felt.
